

PLANT HEALTH CARE

American Landscape is dedicated to enhancing the vitality of your entire landscape. We offer a comprehensive range of services, including preventative and curative treatments, to ensure the optimal health of your trees and shrubs. While significant attention is often given to lawn care, the well-being of your valuable woody plants is equally crucial. Trees and shrubs are long-term investments in your property and deserve attentive care to maximize their lifespan and aesthetic appeal.

Plants face challenges from various factors: Insects, diseases, and even soil problems like compaction or pH imbalances. Non-native plants may struggle due to poor nutrient absorption in our local soil. Additionally, weak plants are more vulnerable to diseases and pests. Simple care practices like spring and fall root feeding, prompt attention to insect and disease issues, and proper pruning techniques can significantly extend the lifespan of your investment.
